

Metal Magazine

Engineered for those who demand unfailing performance, this magazine combines advanced material science with field-proven design. It is built to ensure your focus remains on the target, not your gear.

Battle-Ready Durability: Constructed from nitrided steel and finished with Elite Cerakote, this magazine is built to withstand the harshest environments and most grueling use. It offers superior corrosion resistance and longevity when it matters most.

Customizable Reliability: Featuring adjustable feed lips, this design allows you to fine-tune feeding for your specific platform. Proactively eliminate cycling issues and optimize performance for your unique setup.

Stealth Operation: The high-grade polymer bottom plate dampens sound during loading and handling. This tactical advantage ensures your movements remain quiet and fluid in the field.

Streamlined Agility: The low-profile design minimizes bulk, ensuring the magazine stays out of the way as you navigate through thick brush or confined spaces.

Snag-Free Performance: With a virtually seamless bottom, there are no catch points to snag on your kit or vegetation. Reposition and reload with total confidence, free from gear hang-ups.
